Cooperation

Under the brand name of ÚJV Řež, we provide a wide range of services, including mainly applied research, project and engineering activities in the field of energy, industry and health. For more than 60 years history, we are among the top technology centers in the Czech Republic and in Europe. Based on experienced professionals and specialized technical infrastructure, we are able to compete for complex engagements in all areas of our focus at both a national and an international level. Our services guarantee the safe and efficient operation of energy resources, fuel cycle chemistry and comprehensive services for the management of radioactive and other wastes and on designing and related engineering activities. In the field of nuclear medicine, we deal with the development, production, distribution of radiopharmaceuticals and the construction and operation of positron emission tomography (PET) centers.
